Hi! I'm Mr Jackson. I've been at The Warriner for the last year, and I'm an English teacher. I absolutely love talking about books, characters, ideas, and opinions. For me, the study of English is the study of what it means to be human.

I think being respectful is really important, not just in school but in life itself, and so I always try to embody that, within my teaching and my classroom. It's really important that we're always responsible too, whether that's coming in ready with all the equipment or asking for help if needed.

Outside of school, I'm keen on football, running, and music. I play drums, guitar, bass, and read as much as I can in my spare time. Although in the last year and a half travelling has been harder, it's something I really look forward to doing soon.

I'm currently reading the Double by Jose Saramago, which is about a guy who notices someone who looks identical to him in a film, and tries to track him down.
