Norman England, c1066–c1100

Use Interpretation A to answer question 05.

Interpretation A An interpretation of the impact of the Normans on English monasteries.

Adapted from an article by Hugh Lawrence, in 'History Today', 1986.

English monasticism after the Conquest was transformed by the aggressive building of new monasteries occupied by monks from France. This was deeply disturbing for English monks, who had to accept new Norman superiors. Tension was heightened by the lack of respect shown for English customs. But the Normans breathed fresh intellectual life into the English monasteries through new learning from the continent along with different customs.

Answer all four questions below.

0 | 5 How convincing is Interpretation A about the impact of the Normans on English monasteries?

Explain your answer using Interpretation A and your contextual knowledge.

[8 marks]

0 | 6 Explain what was important about land holding and lordship in Norman England.

[8 marks]

0 | 7 Write an account of the ways in which the lives of Anglo-Saxon villagers stayed the same under the Normans.

[8 marks]

0 | 8 'Luck was the main reason for the outcome of battles in this period.'

How far does a study of the battle of Stamford Bridge support this statement?

Explain your answer.

You should refer to Stamford Bridge and your contextual knowledge.

[16 marks]

Medieval England: the reign of Edward I, 1272–1307

Use Interpretation B to answer question 09.

Interpretation B An interpretation of Edward I's use of castles in Wales.

Adapted from an article by Alan Rogers, in 'History Today', 1969.

The castles of North Wales, with their defensive strength, were strongholds deep in enemy country but they had wider aims than just keeping down a hostile population. Although castles had military importance as permanent footholds, they were also safe places in a country where trouble could break out at any time. They were part of a process of civilisation, of changing the way Wales looked, and the minds of her people.

Answer all four questions below.

- 0 9 How convincing is Interpretation B about Edward I's use of castles in Wales?
Explain your answer using Interpretation B and your contextual knowledge.

Explain your answer.
You should refer to Hull in the reign of Edward I and your contextual knowledge.
[16 marks]

Elizabethan England, c1568–1603

Use Interpretation C to answer question 13.

Interpretation C An interpretation that questions the motives for Drake's round the world voyage.
Adapted from an article by David Cressy, in 'History Today', 1981.

Was the real and secret purpose of Drake's voyage to raid the wealth of Spain as an authorised privateer, or was he sent to discover new lands and set up British colonies in the New World? Was it simply a trading voyage with the aim of finding a new and profitable route to the spices of the East and done in secret to protect any commercial gains? Probably there was a mixture of motives, with much left to chance.

Answer all four questions below.

- 1 | 3 How convincing is Interpretation C about the motives for Drake's round the world voyage.
Explain your answer using Interpretation C and your contextual knowledge.

Restoration England, 1660–1685

Use Interpretation D to answer question 17.

Interpretation D An interpretation of the growth in power of the East India Company.

Adapted from an article by Bruce Lenman, in 'History Today', 1987.

Charles II's restoration began a period of growth for the Company, bringing it prosperity, glory and war against the Dutch. It concentrated on India through heavily-fortified ports over which it had complete control. Its decision to keep infantry at its new headquarters at Bombay was an indirect challenge to Moghul authority and the power of local rulers was undermined. With Bombay already fortified, the new flashpoint would be elsewhere.

Answer all four questions below.

- 1 7 How convincing is Interpretation D about the growth in power of the East India Company?
Explain your answer using Interpretation D and your contextual knowledge. [8 marks]
- 1 8 Explain what was important about the theatre in Restoration England. [8 marks]
